North Marin residents yesterday, by a vote of 748 to 409, seceded from the Marin County Hospital District.

Assessment Plan Faces Fight On Assembly Floor

SACRAMENTO (A) - A controversial measure to legalize California's property assessment practices will be battled out on the Assembly floor.

The Assembly Constitutional Amendments Committee yesterday voted to send the proposal to the floor without recommendation.

The author, Assemblyman Glenn E. Coolidge (R-Felton). terms his proposal the most important legislation of the session.

Although the state constitution says all property must be assessed at 100 per cent of cash value, the state Board of Equalization assesses utility property at 50 per cent while counties assess other property at about 25 per cent.

Coolidge wants to make present practices constitutional except for railroads. Their property assessments would be reduced from 50 to 25 per cent over a five-year period.

The U.S. Army said it planned no special alert for American troops in West Berlin.

"I must disappoint those who expect to get bravery medals,' said Mayor Willy Brandt smilingly. "May 27 will be like any other day."

Six months ago today - on Nov. 27 — the Soviet premier called for an end to the World War II occupation of Berlin and withdrawal of the Allied military garrisons from West Berlin. He said that in six months the Soviets would give East Germany's Communist regime control over Allied military traffic between West Germany and the Communists-surrounded Western half of the city. Novato Bleachers Not Quake-Proof, But They Will Be Newly installed folding bleachers in the gymnasium at Novato High School have been guaranteed by the manufacturer - except against earthquakes, it was learned last night by trustees of Novato Unified School District.

The announcement brought exclamations from the trustees, who expressed fear the bleachers might not be brought up to state earthquake-proof standards in time for graduation ceremonies next month.

Needed, reported Eugene De Brecht, business manager, are bolts which will connect with I-beams, making the bleachers an integral part of the building.

At suggestion of board member Earl Marshall, the trustees voted to notify the company the district will have the work done and subtract the cost from payment for the bleachers unless the company brings them up to standard within 10 days.

May God Help Us Find More Men Like Dulles

They are burying John Foster Dulles in Arlington Cemetery today. For the first time in history, an "official" funeral is being conducted to honor a man who spent a lifetime dedicated to the foreign policy of the United States.

Some men today are calling him the greatest secretary of state in history. A couple of years ago there were many across the nation calling for his dismissal. History alone can decide which group is right.

We didn't know the late secretary; we're sorry we didn't. We had seen him seldom.

But we knew what he stood for-a free world. And we knew what he was against — communism. And we knew that every time he faced a crisis as the two met headon, he was willing to display his undying belief in the eventual success of a free people.

There are some who criticize him for adopting a foreign policy much like that of his predecessor, Dean Acheson. He didn't have much choice; the policy of containing the communists was in operation and couldn't be quickly called off, even if he had wanted to.

Then in quick succession came events of overwhelming importance. Stalin died only six weeks after Dulles became secretary of state. Within a month, the iron fisted, bloody Stalin foreign policy was replaced by a smiling, soft-glove approach which enticed unwary nations, even though the iron fist showed through at times.

Then the first Soviet hydrogen bomb went off and shortly the Reds were bragging about missiles which could carry the bomb across oceans or polar caps. Americans were scared. Isolation

Dulles stood firm. Re-enforcing his policy of not letting the communists gain an inch, he showed a stern face to the world. He threatened massive retaliation. He was accused of letting the nation "drift" to the brink of war, and of snatching it back to peace.

Then his opponents began to notice that although we may have reached the brink a time or two, we never went over. They found they had no better solutions and they began to appreciate the tremendous and novel problems which the secretary of state had to face and de-

Slowly the word "brinkmanship," coined by his political foes as a word of approbation, began to have a new meaning, a meaning of peace, a policy which placed our true strength, physical and moral, before the world—and still short of war.

So John Foster Dulles, who took office while the nation was at war in Korea, helped bring peace then and kept us at peace the rest of his life.

Many times in the past six years, the cold war could have turned hot had a lesser man influenced our destinies.

May God help us find men to succeed him, who will do likewise.

Folks Dancers Will Replace Square Dancers During Western Weekend

ditionally western Western Weekend next month.

Folk dancing is the invader. It will replace the annual robust square dance which has always been a fitting part of the raucous celebration.

Gone from the scene will be the high heeled boots, tooled leather belts and swirling frontier skirts. Instead, it'll be Tyrolian pants and European dresses—albiet colorful, but hardly in keeping with the Wild West flavor that will typify the rest of the big weekend.

It should be a hard pill to swallow for Novato, which considers itself the squaredance capital of the North

Reason for the switch is simple and inescapable. The sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce this year is unable to pay for the western callers. So folk dancing it is.

He has just coached the Novato Hornets baseball team to its first North Bay League championship. "I can't pay attention to my game properly if I'm worrying about someone on another alley and how he is doing against me in a private side bet," said the six-foot four-inch Texan. "I have to concentrate solely on my own game, rest between shots and contemplate my next shot. I can't allow anything else to distract me from my battle with the alley."

The average bowler, meaning you or me, can take a lesson from this, he insists.

"Most average bowlers like to have a number of side only bowl once a week, this is part of the enjoyment of the game. Yacht Club Parking Lot Approved

The Corinthian Yacht Club late yesterday won its battle for permission to build a 40car parking lot at its Tiburon yacht harbor.

By a vote of 4-1, the Marin County Board of Supervisors sustained 'the action of the county planning commission granting the club an adjustment to build a bulkhead and construct piling for the parking

Supervisor William D. Fusselman voted against the action with the comment that the whole argument surrounding the plan has "something hidden" in it.

'SOMETHING ELSE' He did not elaborate, but said, "There's something else here." His comment came after a motion by Supervisor Vera Schultz for approval.

She made the motion after a lengthy discussion with Milton Tonini of Ross, a real estate man, and William M. Ausseresses, land agent for Southern Pacific Co. Both objected to the parking plan being considered prior to action on the yacht club's master plan.

Earlier, the supervisors had set for 8 p.m., June 9, a hearing on the master plan. Tonini, who said he has an "instrumentality" in adjoining property owned by Northwestern Pacific Railroad, has contended that he, too, plans a yacht harbor.

SHOAL IN QUESTION Ausseresses has said the club presented what he believes to be faulty material in its application before the planners. He said a map by the club shows the wrong location and depths for a shoal.

Mrs. Schultz said she went out in a boat over the area and located the shoal. After prolonged discussion on the matter, in which Ausseresses and Tonini both asserted Mrs. Schultz still did not know the location of the shoal, she termed the argument academic and made her motion.

Her motion included reference to the club's "prior action" before a master plan came under consideration, and the club's establishment of a

The action by the board came at the end of at least three long discussions of the matter before the board, and previous discussions before the county planning commission.

This is part of the summing up of how Graham McPhail of San Rafael and his wife, Vera, found the Russian people during a recent tour of three cities on the Black Sea.

The McPhails sailed on a 52day cruise of the Mediterranean, the Greek Islands and the Black Sea. They touched three continents and visited 19 ports in a dozen countries.

They docked at Sochi, Yalta and Odessa, but only briefly in each place.

"We would take a bus and avoid the tours," Mrs. Mc-Phail said. "We would look at the tour material, then strike out on our own. We found the people on the buses friendly and they got a laugh out of our phrase

Board Sets Budget Of $11.6 Million

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted a preliminary budget of $11,-619,780 for the 1959-60 fiscal year, and set July 2 for the start of public hearings on it.

The board also authorized that the budget be printed and available for public scrutiny on June 18. The members of the board will be on vacation at that time but will return to county business June 30.

This means the budget will be on public display for longer than the minimum of 10 days required prior to hearings. The board is required by law to adopt the final budget 10 days after the hearings commence.

There is an indicated tax rate of $2.38 per each $100 of assessed valuation with an added 15 cents for areas in the county library district. The total preliminary budget includ- Elect Slate ing the county library fund is $11,970,444.

Gardener Guilty In Child Molest Case

Robert Allen Randall, 24year-old San Rafael gardener, was found guilty yesterday of molesting a 9-year-old girl in the bedroom of his home on Lincoln avenue last March 25.

Judge Thomas F. Keating heard the girl's testimony and found Randall guilty of lewd and lascivious conduct, which is punishable by a prison term of one year to life. The judge ordered Randall examined by psychiatrists. Sentencing is postponed until June 15, when the doctors' reports will be ready.

The girl said she and her brother were taken to the Randall home for baby sitting by Mrs. Randall. While Mrs. Randall was away, she said Randall blindfolded, tied her hands and molested her. They had been playing a game called "button, button, who's got the button," she testified.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales prosecuted the case. Public Defender Leonard Thomas defended Randall.
